A Word from Gary

A survey of church staff in Denton Association revealed a desire for support in the areas of leadership and church staff. Both of those initiatives will be addressed at our leadership workshop "Leading and Collaborating," on Thursday, May 28th. The enclosed materials will give you the specifics and a way to register.

Our guest facilitator and presenter is Blake Leath. While some of the typical bio information appears on another page, let me help you become acquainted with him in a more personal way. Blake is a believer and a member of RockPointe Community Church in Flower Mound. His pastor Ron Holton introduced me to Blake about a year ago. Blake led a conference on Igniting Change at the church utilizing his knowledge and experience from working with national and international companies. I found him to be an excellent communicator. He is interesting, entertaining, and challenging.

While none of us wants to admit in public that we could use some help in building a strong sense of team among the staff, or that we need better supervisory skills, or that we could use some guidance in how to work better with and influence the volunteer leaders and committees in our churches, we all do. This workshop is designed to provide you with some practical take-aways that will be of benefit to you as an individual and to your staff (regardless of size).

The cost is minimal. Denton Baptist Association is covering most of the expenses for the day through the gifts that your church makes to the association. This is one of the best resources we will offer to church staffs in 2009. I look forward to your joining us for this session on May 28th.
